Abstract

Expressions have meanings, they can be understood from the say itself, or from intimation.

If the say had understood without declaration, then it would have a name 'Concept'

The Concept is the notification of the arbitrate for the say that have been kept silent, with a label of assonant for a say that have been spoken.

So if the arbitrate for the say that have been spoken confirms and agrees with the say that have been kept silent in negative and positive, then it is the concept of agreement, else it is the concept of disagreement'.
