

Diplomatic security in Islam

Mohamed Abraham Abu Jreban
AL – Balqa Applied University
Princess Rahma College
Jordan

Abstract

This study contributes in highlighting on the most important areas concerning the lives of the diplomatic representatives ,whether this exists in the common cases among nations as the peaceful co-existence, the cooperation , and the development of the positive relations among states ,or exists in the urgent exceptional cases on the international area as the tensity of relations or their relevance forbidding war .

This category of people , who is spreaded in the diplomatic field, gained high level of protection ,custody, and superior status to extent that other sorts have not gained. Therefore, the majority of laws and traditions agreed with the inevitable ensuring of custody and the entire protection of people . This can be seen in the liberal grant of immunity and the diplomatic privileges to them .

This study also shows that most of the procedures required by the diplomatic representatives nowadays were conspicuous clearly and decided by the Islamic state through its dealing with other states and this informs us about the level of development and improvement of the Islamic diplomatic system' .