

Using of the lands in the city of Aleppo

Adnan Ganem

Faculty of Economic

Damascus University

Iman AL-Zayed

Faculty of Letters

Tishrin University

Abstract

This research is about studying trends of land –use in Aleppo city which occupies an important industrial and commercial position, in addition of observing most important general and main features of land-use in the city. Especially these who are related to human activity.

This research conception:

- Illustrate balances between land-use and flattening its features according relationship between the human activity and land-use
- The futurism vision for the complementary relationship between the human activity and using the land to deep in the concept of permanent development.

The research concluded by setting the most important results and recommendations which are suitable to review in land-use in Aleppo city