Abstract

This research deals with one side of the thematical commentary of the Holy Quran. It presents a theoretical study of the method of commentary of Quranic subject verses. At the beginning, it explores the relationship between the analytical commentary and the thematical commentary. This relationship is a relation of development, cooperation, difference, unity and complementarity. Then the research deals with the methodical theoretical studies of the thematical commentary from two directions: the semantic direction which deals with the expression and the textual direction which deals with the context and it favors the middle condition between both. Accordingly, the Quranic subjects were classified according to three considerations:

- 1- Subjects deal with the idiom.
- 2- Subjects deal with the idiom and the concept.
- 3- Subjects aim to extract certain theory out of the Holy Quran.

This research has discussed each section of the previously mentioned sections in details.
